National Honor Society . . . and countless more groups, teams, activities, and clubs. Every yearbook says the same thing, tells the same story, merely changing the pictures and wording a little to fit the year. So this year we decided to take a different angle. We tried to listen to what the people were saying, what they did, how they felt, and how they expressed their feelings here at Southern Wells.

We took the theme for the book, "What's That You Say?" from one of our cheerleaders' yells. Remembering the yell and the basic idea that "Everyone has something to say if you only listen close enough," the CHARGER '77 staff set out to create a slightly different look at Southern Wells Jr.-Sr. High School; not only at what happened, but why it happened, and how people felt about it. Obviously, we couldn't capture every event and individual expression but the following book presents some of the things we saw and heard this year.

What's that you say? We can say many things in many different ways, not only orally but with expressions. We show signs of boredom, excitement and failure. Each expression shows a different personality of Southern Wells students.

We had many new and old personalities in 76- 77 at Southern Wells. New teachers, new administrators and new 7th graders have changed this school year. The old personalities grew accustomed to the new. Through a common bond-our school - each came together and became one, sticking together through sport events, band, exams and other school rivalries.

Each year this body of one changes, one part going out into the larger world, another coming into ours. The scared faces of the 7th graders, the new faculty apprehension, and changed rules, show the new coming in. The tearful eyes of the Seniors, the abandonment of those left, and the memories that linger, show the old going out.

This book tries to portray the blending of the old with the new.

PERSPIRATION

"What's That You Say?"

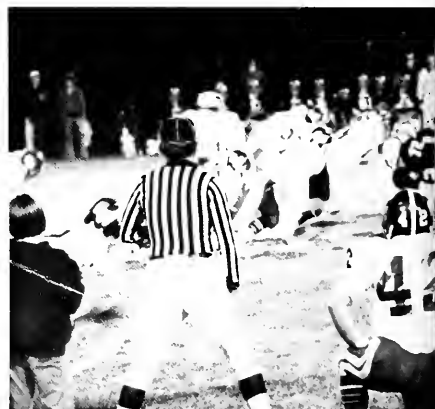

We say Perspiration. Even at a small school like SW, sports are big business. There were 17 different teams, from junior high to varsity, football to gymnastics, at SW this year. The great thing about sports is that it gives so many opportunities. Girls participated in junior high track for the first time this year. There were four different sports in which girls could compete in the varsity level. The seventh grade football team enjoyed a 4-1-1 season and promises to improve SW's varsity grid status in the years to come. For those who aren't so physical, there are plenty of openings for managers, trainers, video operators, and other sports related jobs. Sports involve many things and a lot of people, but the main ingredient in athletics at SW is hard work on the part of the athletes. That is why we say . . . Perspiration.

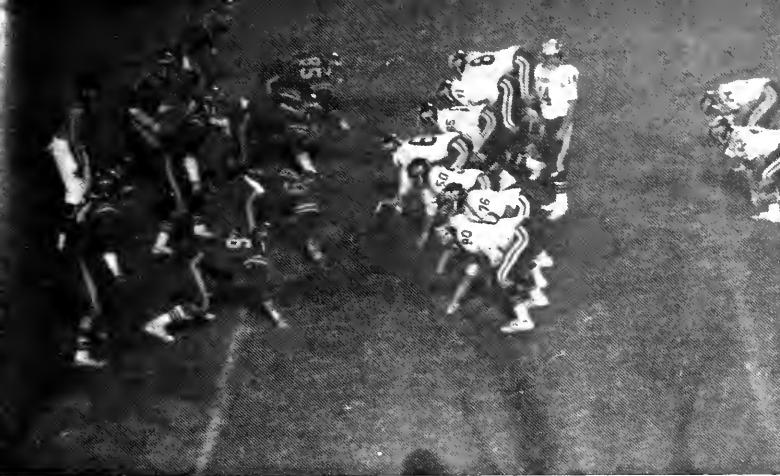

Varsity Has 5-5 Season

Some surprising upsets occurred this year as the Raider gridsmen tallied their best record ever. The climax of the season was defeating the Heritage Patriots in the Homecoming game by a score of 20-13. Another highlight was the sound defeating of Norwell in a 30-8 decision. Another game proved to be an exciting victory as the Raiders clinched second place in the ACAC with a 34-0 triumph over Churubusco. Had Carroll lost their game that same night, SW could have claimed its first conference title. The Carroll victory would have been insignificant had the Raiders stopped Leo earlier in the season. The Raider lines finally fell to defeat after a grinding battle that lasted a school record of three overtimes.

Scores do not tell the entire story however, as any athlete can attest to. Each player grew in physical, mental and emotional stature, besides having fun. Lisa Andrews said it best. "I thought the team worked really great together!"

Varsity and Junior Varsity girl's basketball players grew in athletic ability and in school spirit this year under Miss Wendy Cavan, coach. The comment of junior varsity player Karen Boots reflected the team attitude. "The JV team had a lot better luck at our away games."

Varsity player Dana Harris reflects more on the future as she said, "It was a good year, but we could have done better. We'll be much better next year."

SW RAIDERS HAVE 10-10 SEASON

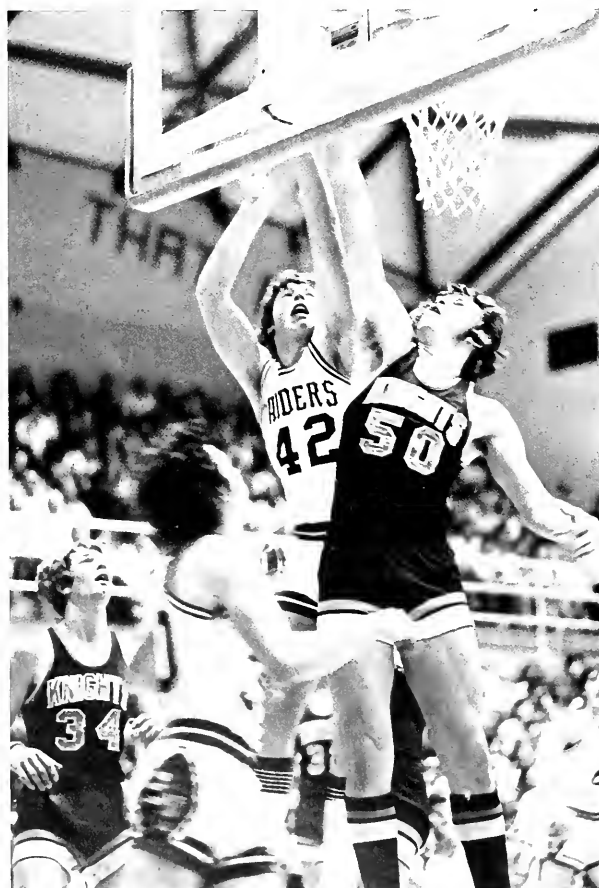

The SW Raiders were kept very busy this year keeping up with some of their opponents. All in all, the Raiders had a very good year. Although we lost the sectional, the fearless team with Phil and Tim Schortgen gave us their best. South Adams was still the victor, 55-53. The senior team members included: Phil Schortgen, Jay Tucker, Bruce Ruble, Dave Flaughter, and Bill Michaels. The other two members were Juniors, Jeff Oswalt, and Tim Schortgen.

Junior Varsity Basketball Team Won Holiday Tourney — Again!

"The highlight of our season was winning the Holiday Tourney for the second time in a row and playing well early in the season," said Mr. Dan Emrick, the J. V. basketball coach. The team finished with a 10-10 record, which is the third best season in the school's history. Mr. Emrick thought that the days the team couldn't practice because of the snow were what kept them from winning more games. "With more practice we'd have gone further," he announced.

FRESHMAN AND JR. HIGH BASKETBALL

The SW Freshman Team had a good season record to back them. A new Single Game Defensive record was made against Parkway, Ohio. The team had an average of nine wins to seven losses. The team played at invitational tourneys against Bellmont and Blackford.

The Eighth Grade Team played a long season with a discouraging record of two wins to eleven defeats. The team had several close games with a difference of only two or three points. This encouraging sign will probably put them on top next season. The Eighth Grade Team played against Lancaster in the ACAC Tourney.

The Seventh Grade Team had a good season with a record of seven wins to six losses. "I felt they played well and I thought that they learned something everytime they played," said Coach Baker. The team had an average score of 34.08 against the average 38.00 of the opposing teams.

Cheerleaders Back Teams All The Way!!!

"The girls really worked hard this year to support their teams," commented Mrs. Myrna Levy. She and Mrs. Jackie Gilbert were this year's sponsors.

The SW Varsity and JV cheerleaders received five superior ribbons at camp last summer and got three out of four spirit sticks, plus one to bring home. To receive the spirit stick they had to yell throughout the entire day. Our yell-leaders learned a lot of new boogie chants and sideline yells.

The seventh grade started a new trend. They had three different squads. Each squad yelled at a different game.

When asked about eighth grade cheerleaders, Mrs. Jackie Gilbert said, "The eighth grade squad really improved."

With the consent of their parents, the freshman squad chose and purchased their own uniforms. Some of the fans really thought they were cute.

RAIDERS SWEEP DOUBLEHEADER

Perfect weather proved a stimulus for SW diamondmen as they defeated Monroe Central in a doubleheader May 14th. The Raiders were victorious in the first game, 4-3, and came back to sweep the doubleheader 6-1. Working on the mound for the Raiders in game one was sophomore Doug Grover. Doug pitched great baseball going the distance and allowing a total of 3 runs. The Raider batsmen proved helpful scoring 2 runs in the fourth and single runs in innings 5 and 7.

Starting the 2nd game for SW was Junior Jim Nash. Nash pitched shutout baseball through 5 innings of the game. Reliever Jody Murray came on in the sixth and allowed Monroe Central to score 1 run in the 7th inning.

1977 RAIDER BASEBALL

"I Think
We Can Win
Them All,"
Said
Mr. Dave Wall,
Asst. Coach.

Above: Senior Kammy Smith dresses for a varsity baseball game. Kammy was bat girl for the baseball team.

"I Warmed
The Bench
During Most Of
The Games," Said
Sonny Hickey.

Facing Far Right: Rod Gentis coasts across the finish line at the end of a long two and a half mile run.

Of all the many extracurricular activities available to students at SW, athletics are the most popular. Sports are also the most demanding and perhaps the most rewarding of all the outside activities at SW.

Although the athletes seem to get a lot of glory and publicity, it is only through hard work and long hours of practice that they get it. The basketball season was still going strong when the track team started getting in condition for their season. When everyone else is enjoying the warm August sun during the last few days of summer vacation, the football team is already hard at work, with practices three times a day, getting in condition for the upcoming grid season.

On top of all this hard work, add the mental stress of knowing that this free throw, or this serve, or this throw of the discus could mean the difference between winning or losing the basketball game, the volleyball match, or the track meet.

Remember the triple overtime football game against Leo when none of the fans could bear to sit down? Just imagine how the players on the field felt!

Three times a year, banquets are held to honor the athletes. Letter jackets, plaques, and other awards are handed out to the deserving participants of all the school's athletic teams.

Although sports are often criticized and people say that they are over emphasized, we all must admit that life at SW is much more exciting because of sports.

"What's That You Say?"

We say Population. In the dictionary, population is defined as "the total number of people of a country, state, town, or the like." In this book we are concerned with the population of Southern Wells High School during the 1976-1977 school year. The student body of SW, as with any high school, is a constantly changing group. As each year goes by, some familiar faces disappear and some new ones take their place. For this reason we feel that the people in the following pages are all very special. Every one of the over 500 students at SW contributed in one way or other to the story in this book. So here are those special people . . . Population.

EDUCATION

"What's That You Say?"

We say Education, because that's what school is all about. By the time an average student graduates, he has spent the equivalent of nearly 700 solid days, nearly two years, in the classroom, getting an education. This seems like a lot until you realize that you have less than two years to learn enough to take you through your whole life.

Maybe the Monday morning and first period blahs, the monotony of a full semester of Health, or a whole year of Algebra, aren't the most exciting things in life. All of these things can hardly compare to the thrill of Homecoming, ACAC Week, and the 3:20 bell; but you must remember that the most important thing is Education.

THE NEW HEBREW

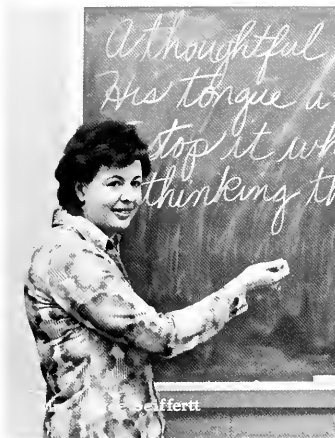

Mrs. Donna Simpson, with a BA, MA and a Reading Endorsement from Ball State, developed the school's reading program and lab when SW first started. This year she taught 6th grade English classes and 2 voluntary Reading Help Classes- one each for jr. and sr. high school. She spent 6 days throughout the year attending a State Reading Conf., which she really enjoyed.

On teaching the "disgrade English" classes, Mrs. Simpson had this to say, "I really enjoy working with them. They're very enthusiastic and ready to learn."

[illegible]

Huntington College students were probably wondering who the new kid on campus was five years ago when Mrs. Margaret Antrim finally decided to go back to school. Mrs. Antrim, who received a BS in Education, decided it was time to hit the books after being out of school for 22 years! She has wanted to be a teacher all her life, but felt she had to teach her children first.

Besides being an "avid sports fan," Mrs. Antrim teaches Jr. High English and is the new drama coach—a part she really enjoys playing. She believes that, "if you can enjoy learning, then you can enjoy life."

"Campus Life has lots of influence on the students here," according to Mrs. Seiffertt, the Junior and Senior English teacher. She is married to the Rev. Kenneth Seiffertt and they have two children, Christian and David. Mrs. Seiffertt likes to travel and do things with her family.

She is famous in the classroom for collecting sayings and each day had a new one on the chalkboard.

Mrs. Walukonis holds the record at SW for commuting the farthest. Like the postman, she drove every day through rain, sleet and lots of snow, from Anderson. She spent her days here teaching Freshman and Sophomore English and advising for the Yearbook. "Getting involved with my students is what teaching is all about," said Mrs. Walukonis, "and I love getting involved." She will be involved in a new school and community next fall in Sycamore, Ill.

Bob Pace fits copy for his layout in Publications class.

For Mr. Wall, the Sophomore English teacher and Newspaper advisor, experience is an excellent teacher. He has worked as a waiter, sold insurance, was in the Air Force, was a chef, and played in a rock group. He said teaching, "Is not as idealistic as I had made it up to be."

Mr. Wall's wife, a registered nurse, enjoys their daughter, Missy. Spare time finds Mr. Wall reading or playing bridge. To become a better teacher is Mr. Wall's main goal.

SOCIAL STUDIES

Mr. Jim Hotopp

Jody Holloway seems intent on studying. The new Senior Room helped seniors to help each other.

Two sayings are typical of Mrs. Nellie Williams. "That's just a bit much," and "All those good things." Her Senior Government and U.S. History students remember these sayings well.

Mrs. Williams is very involved with the National Honor Society at Southern Wells and was responsible for the Spring Induction ceremony.

A native of Montpelier, she likes to read, sew, travel, and is active in community affairs.

Mr. Jim Hotopp has been at SW since the school's first year. He graduated at Richmond SR. High School where he played basketball. Mr. Hotopp teaches 7th Grade Social Studies, 8th Grade History, and Junior U.S. History.

When asked about his worst experience here at SW he said, "We lost some ball games." "We" meaning the 8th Grade ball team which he coaches. He also made this comment about a good situation, "All of my classes are good ones."

He has many hobbies including watching athletic events, reading, playing basketball, collecting arrowheads, and also playing a Dulcimer.

Mrs. Nellie Williams

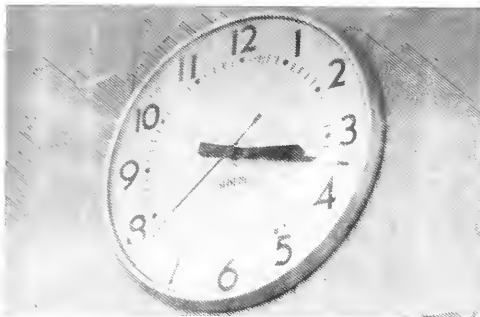

Mrs. Sally Mittlestedt

"When our kids get in serious trouble, that is what hurts the most," commented Mrs. Mittlestedt. She tends to be very optimistic about SW students and feels they are great kids.

Once a year a case of laryngitis sets in on Mrs. Mittlestedt. During this time there is more laughing in her classes than the usual taking of notes. She never gives up though and continues teaching, half whispering and half squeaking.

Her hobbies are playing the piano, reading, watching TV and camping. During the summer of '76 her family was camped near the disastrous Colorado flood.

Mr. Penrod

Being a well known figure around the halls of SW, Mr. Penrod has formed some opinions about its students. When asked how he thought SW was different, he said, "The basic thing I noticed is that kids are pretty well behaved, more here than in some other schools I've been in."

His special interest is sports. He played basketball at Rockcreek High and is the Freshman Basketball coach.

He is married to Joanna and they have four children, Greg, Kathy, Patti and David.

MATH AND SCIENCE

Petite, dark haired Mrs. Linda Oxenrider has been mistaken often for a student in the hallways, but not in the classroom. There she teaches Junior High Math and two Algebra 1 classes. She commented, "I'd like to see more interest in math, more kids taking upper level math classes."

Mrs. Oxenrider and her husband Gary enjoy their year old daughter, Jennifer and what little spare time she has is devoted to working on her Master's program at Ball State.

Mr. Neal Brinneman joined the SW faculty and taught Algebra, Geometry, General Science and Senior Math for one year during a leave from the Missionary field.

One of the funniest things that happened to him here was getting lost and having to ask a student directions to his room. "Circular hallways are different," he commented.

He has traveled extensively throughout the world and will be returning to Africa in the fall of 1977 to pursue the mission work further.

Mrs. Gilbert is quite a busy person, both at SW and in her free time. She has many hobbies including swimming, tennis, cooking and dancing. She also attends many sports events since her husband, Bob, coaches at Norwell.

All of the 7th grade and General Math students enjoy Mrs. Gilbert's puzzles. Her favorite classroom expression is, "Get quiet!"

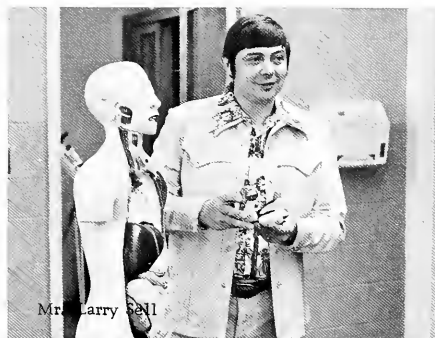

Teachers getting into the act of the 50's for Homecoming Week.

Mr. Larry Sell, Biology and General Science teacher said, "I think it is an important job to educate," and his greatest influence to becoming a teacher was, "a real good high school Biology teacher."

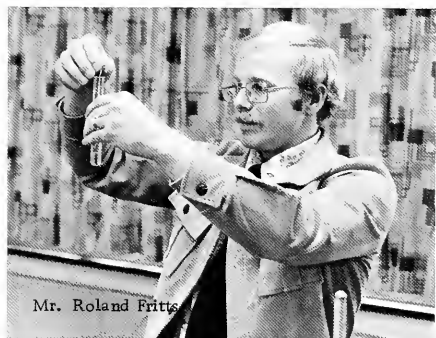

For twelve years, Mr. Sell has been doing that important job in addition to coaching and being Junior Class sponsor. This past year Mr. Sell has also supervised two student teachers.

Mr. Larry Sell

Sean Garrett learns the technique of precision.

Mr. Roland Fritts

Mr. Roland Fritts, our Science, Algebra 2, and 8th grade Math teacher has interesting hobbies. He started, "I like to ride motorcycles and I have two cars, a truck, and a horse that I am in the process of breaking."

He comes to us from Wabash School and enjoys SW because he enjoys country living.

His statement, "I'd like to put a plug in for Physics, so I'll have a big class next year," shows that Physics is his first love.

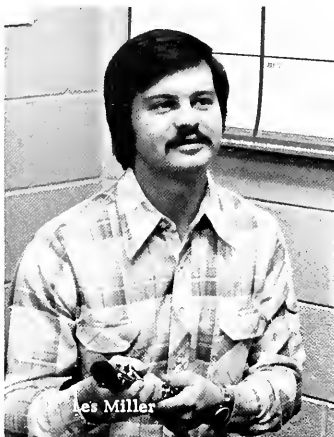

Miss Camille Centers

Miss Camille Centers is a familiar face around SW. Teaching here has enabled her to "Get to know a lot of interesting human beings." She lives on a farm in rural Jay County and raises and shows Registered Morgan Horses.

Miss Centers teaches Junior High Science. When asked how SW was different from other schools, she replied, "You get around a lot here."

CREATIVE ARTS

Mr. Miller, a first year teacher came to SW from Indiana University. At IU he was a Marching Band and an IU Pep Band member for 5 yrs.

During the past 7 years he has been an instructor for Fred J. Miller Camps.

Mr. Miller's home town is Casstown, Ohio and his hobbies are sports, cycling, and, he is a stereo buff.

Mr. Miller said he is, "Anticipating placing in the top 25 at the State Fair in 1977."

Mrs. Jane Lesh

"When I was substituting at a school last year, I headed back to my classroom after lunch. As I walked down the hall I heard the principal shouting at me to get back in the cafeteria. He thought I was a student!" so stated Mrs. Jane Rivar-Lesh.

Mrs. Lesh teaches Jr. and Sr. High Choir, Singers, and Madrigals. This year the choral department put on a traditional Charles Dickens Christmas Dinner. Mrs. Lesh went on to say, "I like the small size of SW, I feel I can get to know the students better."

Mrs. Mary Alice Laymon, returning after a 3 year absence, now has the Jr. High and one Sr. High Art class. When asked which she enjoyed teaching more, Home Economics or Art, she replied, "They're very closely related, but in art the students have a little time to themselves to be free to do their own thing."

Mr. David Baker, our High School Art teacher and 8th gr. coach, has started the teachers on a Dulcimer craze. Since he made his, four other teachers have made them.

Mr. Baker tries to inspire his students by saying, "Don't take life too seriously because after all it isn't permanent."

Mrs. Barbara Morgan lived in London, England for two years and has traveled across Europe. She now teaches Spanish at SW. She thinks students should take Spanish because "It will strengthen their English background; having knowledge of another language is broadening one's education."

PRACTICAL ARTS

Mrs. Myrna Levy

Mrs. Levy, Home Economics teacher, spirit team sponsor, and gymnastics coach said that the most rewarding thing about teaching is, "Watching the student's faces when they accomplish something, especially if I have helped them to accomplish it." In addition to the students, Mrs. Levy enjoys her co-workers and commented, "The members of the faculty are great, a little crazy at times, but great."

Home Economics is more than just stitchin' and stirrin'. Alice Sharpe and Alan Harshman indulge in one of the most enjoyable Home Economics assignments-----eating.

"That Pie-in-the-Eye Contest has to be the worst thing that happened to me this year," commented Miss Fuelling about the FHA planned event for Homecoming. "I had pie all over my head, and inside and outside of my clothes; it was just awful." Along with being Southern Wells FHA adviser, she is the Coordinator for District VI FHA/HERO and Vocational Home Economics teacher at SW.

Miss Diana Fuelling

Right: Junior Mark Shideler nails a brace onto the frame of the barn that he built in the third period Agriculture class.

Mr. William Hancock feels that the best thing that has happened to him is "just being here at SW".

Mr. Hancock, who teaches Industrial Arts, is very popular with the students. The seniors in the power mechanics class even formed "Frank's Army" in Mr. Hancock's honor.

Mr. Hancock's main interests are his family and sports. He served as head baseball coach at SW in addition to his Industrial Art classes.

"I hate to see students not take advantage of the opportunities they may never have again", said Mr. Steve Stauffer, Vocational Agriculture teacher.

This was Mr. Stauffer's third year at SW, where he teaches all levels of agriculture and is also the sponsor of the F.F.A.

He likes to hunt, fish, sing, and enjoys teaching in this community. He feels that, over all, the student body is excellent and he wants to help the students get the best education possible. He feels that "There are plenty of opportunities here. All you have to do is take them."

After 27 years of teaching, Mr. James Roush is still going strong. To testify to his diverse abilities he took on driver's training this year, in addition to Junior High Science and Chemistry.

Mr. Roush enjoys fishing and traveling. Golf, however, is his favorite pastime and he coaches the school's golf team.

Mr. Roush said that the students need "to become more serious about education." He really enjoys teaching at SW, but feels that "indifference toward school and education" on the part of the students, prevents them from getting all the benefits available to them.

P.E. AND BUSINESS

"I enjoy everything I do," said Mr. Curt White, who shares his famous origin, Grand Rapids, Michigan, with past President Ford.

Currently he is working on his Masters Degree in School Administration at Ball State and coaching for Taylor University.

He and his wife, Linda, tried tent camping recently and have enjoyed it. "Anything for me is a lot of fun," states Mr. White.

Physical fitness has an important role in the S W curriculum.

Miss Wendy Cavan

If you see a young teacher in many different colored jogging sweat suits, it is bound to be Miss Wendy Cavan, Physical Education instructor and girl's basketball and track coach. Miss Cavan is quite an athlete herself and enjoys the outdoors, camping, and especially her van.

When asked about giving advice she stated, "Advice can always be given, but if it's taken, that's a different story." SW girl athletes must take her advice, however, since they have improved their records in recent years.

Miss Cavan commented, "The school building here is a beautiful facility, and we have the best girl athletes."

Mr. Stephen Barkdull teaches Accounting, Typing, and I. C. E. classes. Coaching Cross Country has involved some risks for Mr. Barkdull since "The worst thing that's ever happened to me here, was being thrown into the showers by my Cross Country Team after the Sectional. My Mickey Mouse Club Membership Card got soaked!" Mr. Barkdull has been a true-blue Mickey Mouse Club Member since he was five years old. Mr. Barkdull presently lives in Eaton.

Mr. Barkdull brought in the 'New Year of 1977' in downtown Chicago. While in Chicago, Mr. Barkdull went to the Sears Tower, and visited various wax museums.

Mr. Stephen Barkdull

"The worst thing that's ever happened to me at SW had to be when I went into the library to check on the Sunshine Club candy surplus and tripped over an unplugged movie projector cord. About 20 students turned around and there I was on the floor!" exclaimed Mrs. Kathy Carfield.

Mrs. Carfield teaches Personal Typing, Business Machines, Office Skills, and Shorthand. She oversaw the candy sales of the Sunshine Society and is a co-sponsor of that club. Mrs. Carfield likes SW because it is like home to her, since she grew up this area and because it is a rural school.

Mrs. Kathy Carfield

Mr. Emrick resides in Montpelier with his wife Judy. Along with coaching Baseball, he teaches Health, Business Education, Record Keeping, and Basic Business.

Mr. Emrick is an example of the old saying 'do as I say, not as I do' because, in spite of recommending a big breakfast in his Health Classes, he hardly eats any breakfast at all! Instead he eats a hearty supper!

Mr. Emrick jogs daily as a source of exercise and enjoyment. His favorite hobby is working on cars and he is the former owner of a Triumph Spitfire.

A busy Typing Class typing out the day's drills and exercises.

ADMINISTRATION

Serving on the 1977 Southern Wells School Board are Glen Dunn, president; Ward Showalter, vice president; Bill Banter, secretary; and Jack Wilson.

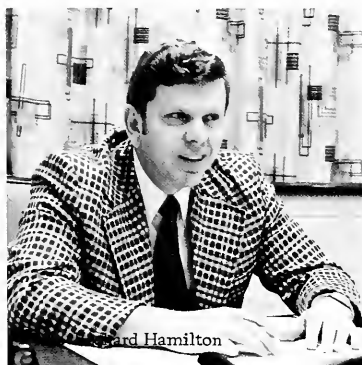

Mr. Lloyd Biberstine, Superintendent, commented on the school year. "I'm generally well pleased with the way things are going. We have a fine school and our community shows a lot of support."

There is a lot of clerical work involved in running a school system. Here, Mrs. Sue Harshman, secretary, and Mrs. Marie Rice, secretary-treasurer, go over some of their work.

Mr. James L. Schwarzkopf, principal of Southern Wells, says his job is thoroughly enjoyable. It seems the most important thing to Mr. Schwarzkopf, whether for himself, the faculty, or the students, is to do the best job possible, then be satisfied with the results. He feels, "Life is too short to be in a hassle all the time. You probably wonder why I'm a principal."

The Southern Wells High School administrative staff consists of Mr. James Schwarzkopf, Principal; Mr. Richard Hamilton, Assistant Principal; Mrs. Donna Moran, Guidance Counselor; Mr. Edwin Shipley, Guidance Counselor, Athletic Director, and Varsity Basketball Coach; Mrs. Myrna Neff, Secretary-Treasurer; and Mrs. Wilma Lee, Secretary.

A very busy place around SW is the high school office. Any hour of the school day Mrs. Lee and Mrs. Neff are hard at work, but never too busy to take time out to write a pass or give an answer to questions, either by students or teachers.

Mrs. Moran, always ready with an understanding ear, counsels many students during a day. With any problem a student may have, Mrs. Moran is a great person to talk to.

Mr. Shipley, busiest during the basketball season, but always busy, has brought pride to SW not only for our basketball team but for our whole athletic program.

"I've had no bad experiences at Southern Wells. Most of my experiences have been very good ones." That's how Mr. Hamilton feels about SW. Being with kids is what Mr. Hamilton likes to do best, and at Southern Wells he certainly gets to do that!

Mrs. Jean Kober, a resident of Wells County all of her life, has been at SW for nine years. She said, "It is much different than hospital work." Mrs. Kober commented that she likes working at school because of the hours and the summer vacations.

Of her cadets she said, "I really enjoyed working with my cadets."

Mrs. Jean Kober

Mrs. Archbold lived across from the Federal penitentiary in Terre Haute while she was getting her BA degree in Social Science and Library Science. "There were two breakouts while we were moving in," claimed Mrs. Archbold, and one evening when I was going to night class, I heard the breakout siren. Of course it was dark outside and when I turned on my car lights, I caught a glimpse of a running figure. I thought it was the convict and it scared me."

She has a hobby of candle-making. Sometimes it can be messy. Once on a trip to Florida, while visiting relatives, she stashed 150 lbs. of candle wax in her car trunk. "It melted in our trunk, so we used an ax to break it up," said Ms. Archbold.

RECREATION

“What’s That You Say?”

We say Recreation because that's what clubs are all about. Southern Wells clubs and organizations are set up to give students just a little break from the monotony of school and to help them have a little fun with friends and classmates. Some of these clubs are local groups, such as History Club, Health Careers or Concessions. Some are nation-wide, such as FFA, FHA, and National Honor Society. But whether these clubs are musical, like band, Singers, and Madrigal, governmental, like Student Council, or athletical, such as the newly created Lettermen Club, they all serve the same purpose.

By providing such opportunities for fun and recreation through the various clubs and their activities, SW hopes to make school life a little more challenging and exciting.

That's why we say
Recreation.

The 1977 Yearbook Staff Broke All Records For Collecting Advertisement Money. Newspaper Appears At SW Again!

S.W. Charger

The yearbook is more than class pictures. It's a history of the whole year, and this year's yearbook staff worked hard to make it a good one. The staff went to J-Day at Ball State and also to the Notre Dame Seminar. We took a field trip to Blackford High School to get a look at how they function. The yearbook class also sponsored the super Valentine's Day dance and Cupid's raffle. The yearbook staff broke all the records for collecting ads. The '77 staff worked hard for your yearbook. Mrs. Walukonis, Advisor, stated, "It was a great year. A lot of hard work, but fun."

S.W. Circular

The SW Circular got better every issue. Maureen Edwards, editor-in-chief; Sherry Bradley, business manager; Nancy Blinn, club editor; Debbie Price, feature editor; and the rest of the Circular staff had a big job on their hands. Along with putting out the paper, the staff also worked in coatcheck with the Yearbook staff. They also were their own paperboys. Mr. Wall, the advisor, commented that "The newspaper has progressed from the beginning." He also thinks that the newspaper has the potential to become a great publication.

The Savage Dilemma

This year's fall production of "The Savage Dilemma" was no exception to the fine job that the Drama Club has been doing in the past few years. This year, though, there was a new twist. We experienced a new director, Mrs. Antrim. Although the play got off to a slow start, it ended in a big success. The play was held in November.

Also, another new twist was added this year. The High School Choir, along with Drama Club, co-hosted a Spring Variety Show. The co-directors were Mrs. Margaret Antrim and Mrs. Jane Lesh. The Variety Show was held on April 22. It was also a big success.

VARIETY SHOW '77

"Now ladies and gentlemen, presenting VARIETY SHOW '77!"

It's a well known fact the choral music department at SW hasn't been the same since Mrs. Jane Rivar-Lesh took over. The Charles Dickens Feast was an excellent example of this. Once again the traditional mold was broken with a change from the Spring Gala, an annual event, to the Variety Show.

The show included tap dance routines, instrumental solos, modern dances, duets, and other examples of SW student talent. Not only musical, theatrical too. The Drama Club decided to cancel their annual spring play and join in with a few excerpts showing their own special abilities. Between each of these talented acts, the Master of Ceremonies, Andy Zehner, and Hostess, Tresa Couch, made introductions and added small bits of humor.

Audience approval showed that the first annual Variety Show on Saturday night was a complete success. To show their appreciation, the cast gave Mrs. Lesh and Mrs. Antrim roses -- and with that, the show ended.

Snow swirled silently down forming a lacy curtain against the night. It seemed as if the school was a stage and the curtain rose as the guests walked through the door. The setting was a castle and every one present was a part of the production. The first annual Charles Dickens Feast was a great success and plans are being made for the storybook castle to return next year.

Singers, Madrigal And Choir Combine

Under the direction of Mrs. Jane Rivar-Lesh the Concert Choir, Singers and new Madrigal group combined for very successful programs. The Charles Dickens Dinner at Christmas time and the Variety show in the spring were both very new to the SW community, but were accepted with enthusiasm. Both programs will probably be continued next year.

The groups recorded a radio program for WCRD. Using warm-up techniques, Mrs. Lesh led all of the groups to a bigger, better sound. Singing, in many forms, is alive and well at SW.

Marching Raiders Capture "Best New Band" Title

After many long hours of practicing the Marching Raiders went to State Fair. This was a first. The band did very well, placing 36th. The Marching Raiders also won the John A. Hook Founders Award for "Best New Band." The band performed at the Delaware County Fair, Winchester, Bluffton Street Fair, 4-H parade and the Berne Halloween parade. The football fans were entertained by the band at pre-game and at half-time.

The Pep Band showed their spirit by cheering the team on at home games and at the Allen County Tourney. The Pep Band, wearing new white sweaters, is a voluntary unit.

The Concert Band, with the H.S. Choirs, put on the Winter Concert. The other bands that played were the Jr. High and the Pep Band. Most members of the Concert Band are also in the Marching Band. These bands are under the direction of Mr. Les Miller.

Pom Pons, Twirlers, Flags, and Guns played an important part in the Marching Band. The pom pons also performed at half-time during basketball season.

Others that worked hard were the Flags and Guns. They are; Flags, Malia Lancaster, Cindy Daugherty, Kim Patterson, Evelyn McCoin, Kathy Meyer, Susan Bennett,

The Concessions Club operated differently this year. In order to help the other clubs get money for their projects, the Concessions Club let the other clubs run the concessions stands at the basketball games. The Concessions Club members still supervised the sales, but the other club received a share of the profits.

The Lettermen's Club, sponsored by Mr. Shipley, was formed this year. Its members include all the Senior, Junior, and Sophomore athletes who started on any of the varsity sports teams, both boys and girls. There were 51 members in the club this year. In order to raise money, the Lettermen bought a snow-cone machine, which they operated at all the varsity basketball games.

Active Council Involves Students And Faculty

The 1976-77 Student Council got an early start on its year of activities, but weather played a frustrating part in many of the Council's plans. No less than three Council activities were cancelled because of the weather.

Planning and committee work began before school was out last year for Homecoming '76 and lasted throughout the entire summer. Numerous committees were set into action to iron out the details of over twenty various activities. When school started in August, the Council shifted into high gear. Finally the big week arrived and all the plans and ideas were thrown into action. The theme for Homecoming '76, "The '50's" was carried out in dress, music, and decoration throughout the entire week. A Raider victory and Homecoming dance, featuring McAllister, one of the hottest bands to ever hit SW, climaxed the week of festivities.

"I think over all the whole week was a great success. There were a lot of uncertain and trying moments, but for the most part I think it went real well and everyone seemed to have a good time. It was the biggest project the SC had ever undertaken, and I hope future Councils strive to make it bigger and better," summed up Council president Brian Williams.

Homecoming '76 wasn't the only project the SC worked on over the summer. A school swimming party was planned for mid-July, but was rained out. A Back-to-School Dance was thrown the first night of school. People had a chance to get together with friends, share summer experiences and pick up their 1976 CHARGER yearbooks. Sadie Hawkins followed shortly behind Homecoming and proved to be another Council success.

In the spring, following the installation of several new SC members, a week of activities was planned for ACAC WEEK, but two snow days put a damper on several of the plans.

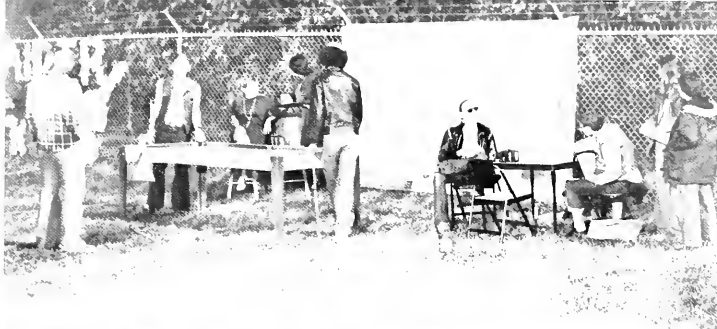

The 1976-77 Student Council was busy throughout the entire year. Many of their activities and projects were not easily noticed by the student body, but never-the-less played an important role in the course of the school year.

"Magic Charlie" Spencer provided one of the best received convocations to hit SW for several years. He displayed basketball handling skills both before a student body convocation and at half time during a varsity game.

Middle Right- To climax the excitement of the Activities Night during Homecoming Week, the traditional Victory Bon Fire was set ablaze and a Heritage Patriot was thrown in. Above- Another Homecoming activity was "50's Dress-up Day." Here Mr. Hancock, Mr. Wall, Mrs. Seiffert, Mrs. Lesh, Mrs. Gilbert, Miss Cavan, Mrs. Levy, Miss Fuelling, Mrs. Walukonis, and Mrs. Carfield display their "spirited" attire. FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

Fourteen new members joined the ranks of FFA in 1977. This was not enough to match last years record. However, the 52 members were busy winning various awards.

Jay Tucker became the Star Farmer. Jeff Prible won the Star Greenhand Award. De Reinhart won the DeKalb Award for outstanding Senior. Mike Blinn, Bill McIntire and Gary Story won first place in the District tractor trouble shooting contest and 5th in the State. Jay Tucker won the crops proficiency award and the Mechanics Award.

Not only did members win awards but the Chapter was rated "top in the State" and their scrapbook won a 1st.

Tresa Couch was named the FFA Sweetheart for 1977.

Phil Schortgen was named Hoosier Businessman for the District and Bill Gerard won the Hoosier Farmer Degree.

Many members won awards at various speech contests. These included Tim Gregg, Chris Killingbeck and Phil Schortgen.

Quite an impressive record for the SW Chapter of FFA!

The FFA sponsored many events during the year. They held a slave sale which turned out to be a great success.

The FFA again this year held the citrus sale and sold 730 boxes of fruit.

FFA members who earned enough credit got to go on a canoe trip. This year 11 members went to Wawa, Canada for a week.

The National Convention in Kansas City, Kansas, found Howard Benefield, Mark Shideler, Greg Pinkerton and Ron Bennett in attendance.

History Club is for students who are interested in history or for those who like Mrs. Mittlestedt's good cooking. The History Club had a traditional Christmas party at Mrs. Mittlestedt's house where she cooked a delicious meal. Along with that they helped with concessions at basketball games and held monthly meetings.

Left: History Club member, Amy Slaughter ponders her future. Will she make history?

Sponsoring a student-parent swap day and initiating 11 new members were just a few of the activities the National Honor Society completed this year. They also had a Christmas party and held several early morning meetings. This year's Honor Society members are Row One: Tammy Grover, Debbie McDaniels, Laura Cochran; Vice-president, Gail Eldridge, Jody Bryant, Polly Reinhard,

Above: Elementary students learn proper brushing, aided by Health Career people. Health Careers met once a month with guest speakers telling about their Health related fields. A Christmas party was held at Mrs. Kober's home. The Health Careers members are Row One: Laurie Bonham, Karen Kershner. Row Two: De Ann Paterson, Gail Eldridge, Brenda Slusher, Peggy Campbell, Martha Habegger, Amy Slaughter, Kammy Smith. Row Three: Polly Reinhard, Shari Cale, Linda Wrestler, Cindy Meade. Row Four: Shirley Eldridge, Shannon Elliott, Thersa Penrod, Tammy Grover.

Audio-Visual Aid students helped the teachers and students by showing educational and feature films. They were trained by Mrs. Archbold to use our school's 16mm projectors. The films that the teachers use are ordered from one of four sources, Bluffton Public Library, Bluffton Public Library Circuit, Association, or Free Films.

The audio-visual aid students set aside their study halls or spare time to show films in the classrooms. They used one of either two EIKI'S or four Bell & Howell Autoloads. The Bell & Howell Autoloads were traded in for a new EIKI and three new Bell & Howell Slot Loads.

Last year marked the beginning of the schools regular showing of feature films. This privilege allows a student to see a feature film in his or her study hall period for the minimal cost of 50¢. The feature film that drew the biggest crowd was Walt Disney's SNOWBALL EXPRESS.

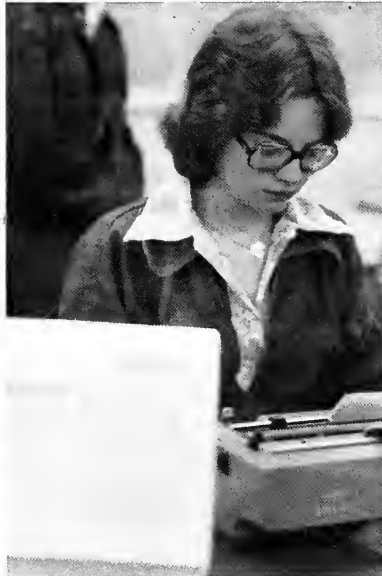

I.C.E. STUDENTS PREVIEW ACTUAL WORK SITUATIONS

ICE (Interdisciplinary Co-operative Education) Class is a vocational course offered to Seniors who have enough credits at the end of the year to graduate.

The program is developed in such a way that students work half of the day, attend a special ICE Class and have regular schooling for the other half of the day. Some of these students help their parents in the operation of their farms and that is the student's chosen occupation for the year; others work in Grocery Stores, Drug Stores, Gas Stations, Auto Garages, and etc.

At the end of the year, the ICE students host their employers at an appreciation dinner at the Dutch Mill in Bluffton, Indiana.

"What's That You Say?"

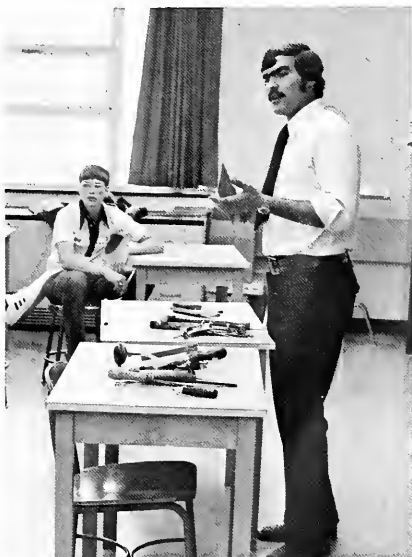

We say Celebration. Throughout the school year there are a few events that are above and beyond the regular school day happenings. These enjoyable times are always the result of careful planning and hard work. From the Boar's Head procession at the Dicken's Feast to the tricycle race during Homecoming Week, from the Prom dinner to the successful planning of the first Variety Show, everyone put forth great effort to make these times special. And they become more special as you take the long walk to the platform to receive your diploma, as you cheer your class winning the Spirit trophy and as you enjoy a very special Prom night. Then you know the hard work was all worth-while and in the glory of the moment, as you reflect on these special events, you realize you have something to . . . Celebrate.

Special Events

Highlights Of The Year

Opposite Top: Bob Pace, Eric Gustafson, Sherry Bradley and Cammy Smith take time out from Journalism Day at Ball State to relax. Opposite Lower Left: Joe Shultz and his friend, Jake Jingles, talk to the student body at a convocation. Opposite Lower Right: Among the excellent acts at Variety Show '77 was Kevin McDonald and Jenina Mertz's dance routine to "California Strut." Top Left: Mr. Hancock never looked so good, probably for the simple reason that it was Senior Teach Day and Jody Holloway was filling in for him. Top Right: Fairy May, better known as Tresa Couch, listens intently to the other patients in the play THE SAVAGE DILEMMA. Lower Left: Mr. Schwarzkopf, alias Larry Smith, sipped some hot tea and tried to forget the problems of running a school system.

A WEEK OF INVOLVEMENT

Some of the most exciting events during Homecoming Week were the ones involving the election of the 1976 Homecoming Royalty. Some of the court had these comments: King Larry Palmer- "I feel very honored at being elected." 7th grade Representative- Mitch Maddox- "I liked everything about being in the Homecoming Court; it was all right!" Queen Karen Kershner- "It's a great feeling to know that the student body wanted me to represent them."

JUNIOR - SENIOR PROM - '77

When the first few couples began arriving at the Scottish Rite Ballroom in downtown Fort Wayne, the decorations for the 1977 Jr.-Sr. Prom were not quite complete. However, with a little help from at least one Senior and one outside guest, the setting was completed in time for the arrival of the rest of the guests.

The theme of the Prom was "Every Day A Beginning", taken from the current popular song "Evergreen." The spacious ballroom was ornamented with streamers, small artificial trees trimmed with carnations, and a fountain which sprayed water into a small pool.

When all the couples had arrived, Junior Class President Lou Ann Reinhard welcomed everyone. Dave Flaughter, President of the Senior Class, then responded by thanking the Juniors, on behalf of the Seniors, Faculty, and guests, for the fine evening. Following the Invocation, offered by Mr. Larry Sell, a meal of Prime Rib, Baked Potatoes, Corn, Tossed Salad, and various kinds of pie was enjoyed by nearly 300 diners.

Following the dinner the couples strolled around the building, posed for pictures or chatted with each other while the band warmed up. The band was "Mandrake" from Indianapolis. They were a nine-piece group which included brass and keyboards.

Time passed quickly as the couples danced and soon it was 10:45, the magic time to crown the King and Queen. The four candidates for each throne came forward and waited tensely. The long awaited moment came and Debbie McDaniels and Phil Schortgen received the honors. Martha Habegger, Amy Slaughter, and Cherry McMillan and Dave Flaughter, Gary Story, and Larry Palmer were named to the Queen and King's respective courts. Debbie and Phil took their places on their thrones and everyone else resumed dancing.

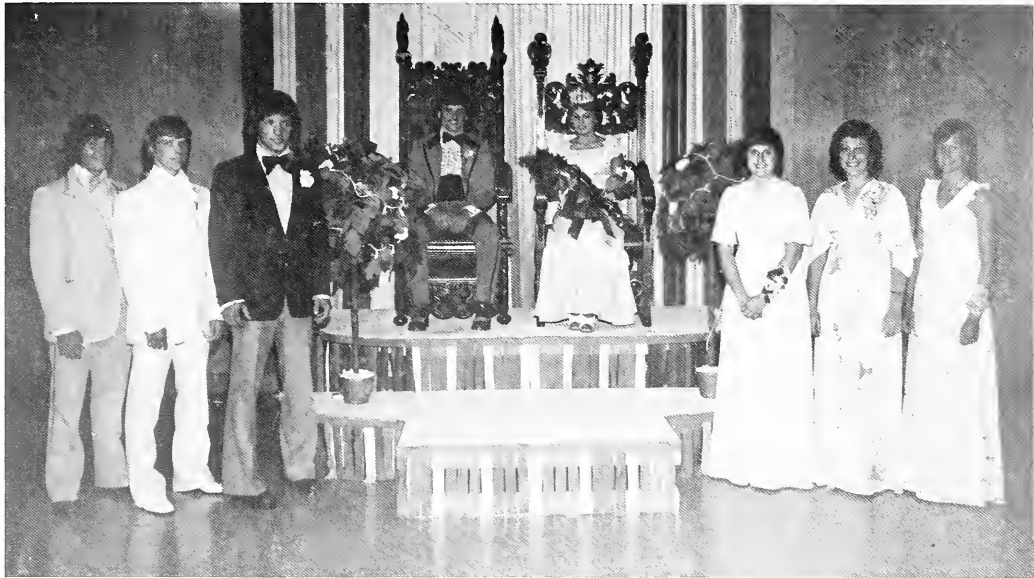

After more dancing the hour began to get late and couples began to leave, taking with them all the floral decorations and souvenirs they could carry as well as fond memories of the 1977 Prom.

Below: Kathy Oswalt and date, and Tammy Grover and date enjoy dinner.

GRADUATION DAY

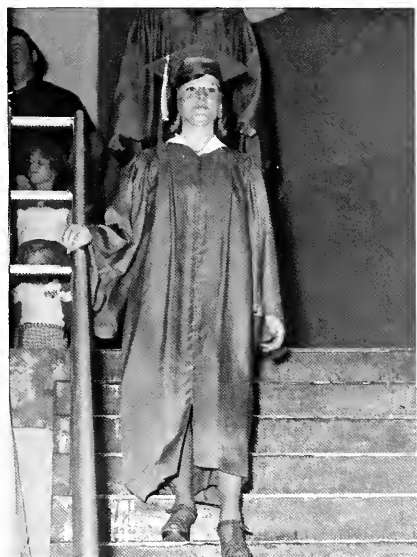

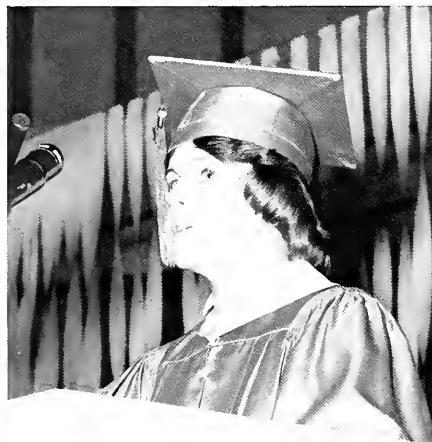

"Well folks it's about three minutes till we begin to get ready. You've come this far without a hitch so don't fall down the stairs or anything. You're a great group of kids and I wish you all of the best," stated Mr. Baker, class advisor.

These were the last words that the seventy-five solemn seniors heard before they met reality and stepped into the world through the 1977 Commencement Program. All of the traditional ceremony that accompanies the acquisition of that all important leather-bound piece of paper were there, along with some very unique elements to make this graduation a very personal one for each senior. The band played the traditional Processional as the class marched in. The Reverend David Turhune gave the invocation and Senior Class Treasurer, Karen Kershner, read scripture.

DO NOT GO WHERE THE PATH LEADS . . .

GRADUATION DAY

A SOLEMN OCCASION

Kim Lovell, Senior class secretary, read a poem and then lit the candle that symbolized the unity of the class as one. The salutatorian, Brian Williams, and the valedictorian, Polly Reinhard, gave inspiring talks highlighting some of the activities of the class and challenging their fellow students.

Andy Zehner shared an original song that was meaningful to the class because of the theme - "Be yourself 'cause that's all you'll ever be."

After the awards, diplomas and Bibles were presented and the class was declared duly graduated, the Southern Wells class of 1977 gathered with their lighted candles and sang "Searching So Long" ending with the sentiment, "Good things in life take a long time."

that NFM may pay you top prices because of wise marketing & economical shipping."

F

IN FERTILIZER:

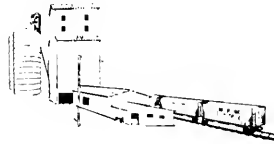

" . . . we again research, study, and analyze new products that we may improve quality at a price which will boost your yields and improve your profit."

M

IN THE AGRICULTURAL LAB.:

" . . . we study your soil needs and make recommendations to correct your specific soil needs in order to help you plan for top yields and increased profits."

Above: Lockers are used for many things, to gab by, to meet at, to have an excuse to leave class for, and for storage; but not necessarily books. Above Right: Graduation meant special awards for, Row 1: Martha Habegger, Polly Reinhard, Tresa Couch, Karen Hogston. Row 2: Debby McDaniel, Jay Tucker, Bill Gerard, Brian Williams and Deb Worman. Below: Special occasions would not be complete without music. Playing here for Graduation ceremonies are senior Glenda Monce, Mary Norris, Deb Hartman, Stephanie Helms, Anette Pernell and Lori Dumpert. Below Right: Everyone reacts in different ways. Here Kevin King and Jeff Brown show the "V" for victory sign.

I appreciate your kind words of support and good wishes. In the months and years ahead, I will do my best to be worthy of the trust you have placed in me. Bound by a new spirit and new commitment we can together build a better and more peaceful world.

"What's that you say?" President Carter said 'thanks' to our congratulations.

Below: Cherry McMillan asks, "Have you got the spirit?"

Everything we are we owe to someone else. Nothing is truly ours for we are more than ourselves. We are all a part of everything we touch and everything that touches us becomes a part of us.

Southern Wells is a combination of students, teachers, administration, school help, volunteers and our communities. The merging personalities of these people involved in Southern Wells, our dreams, our knowledge, our sharing, our hopes, and our actions, make this the school it is. And this combination dictates what Southern Wells means to other people.

We cannot wander alone. We are always affected by our relationships with other people. During the course of each day during this year, we felt hassled, hurried, bored, taken advantage of, happy, glad, or excited. Each emotion showed.

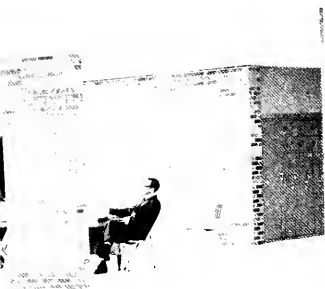

Fads and fashions shaped our lives. Gauchos, motivator shoes, jeans, peanut jokes, wedge hair cuts and bibbs became a part of some of us and reflected our life styles.

Whatever we share, whatever we do, whatever we are, as a whole, is reflected in this book. It's what we say.

We "say" the Charger is a history of the 76-77 year.
a record of our thoughts to help us all remember

Southern Wells as it was . . .

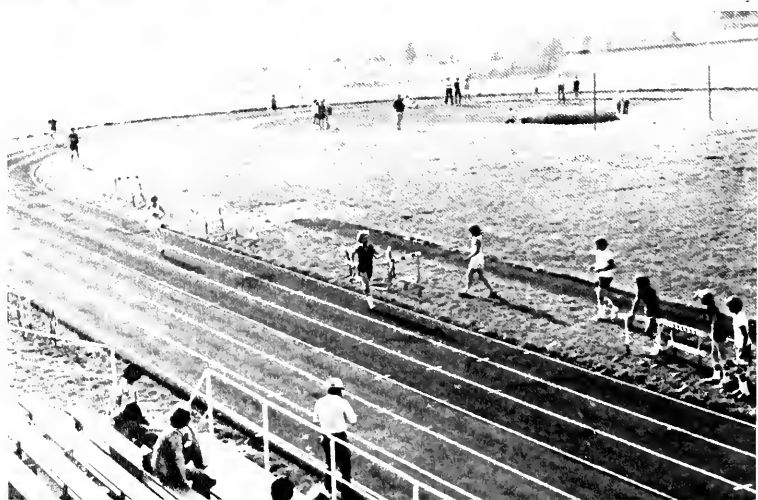

To see daily happenings,
hear echoes of our laughter and remember moments that linger in our minds . . .

You are a part of this book
Or have contributed to our Understanding of us . . .

So what you say, and think,
and remember makes this Yearbook a special memory . . .

As we come to the end of this book, one thing becomes evident. Throughout the book we have asked the question "What's That You Say?", and only now do we realize that there is so much to say that we could never capture everything in a book like this. If we had ten more just like it, there would still not be enough time and space to tell all that was said and done in the 1976-1977 school year.

In this book, we have tried to capture the feelings of the main events of the year. We have also tried to expose a little of the personalities of the faculty, students and administration of SW. This is all very fine, but as you look back on the year, your favorite moment is possibly one that went unnoticed by all but a few people.

For all the underclassmen, the end of the year brought talk of "next year". For the Senior Class, the only thing left to say was "good-by", but we feel that everyone said something, in one way or another.

The 1977 Southern Wells Charger XI Yearbook editors, Brian Williams and Andy Zehner cleared a lot of hurdles and overcame tough times to make it to the top but as the dust cleared and the final pages made it to press, they realized it was a good experience, and they were thankful to the staff for a job well done. "What's that you say?" We say, "Thanks!"
